

Assumptions

Addressing community members' health behaviors will improve the health of the community. Resources are available to support a healthy community.

External Factors

Local policy, systems, and environments are currently in place which may deter addressing community health issues. Social Determinants of Health affect the health of community members.