Program: Sample Community Health Needs Assessment

Logic Model

INPUTS

- Staff
- Existing relationships with key stakeholders in the target communities
- Awareness of existing resources and community initiatives
- Existing current and relevant data
- Time
- Financial Resources
- CHNA Workgroup
- CHNA Partners

OUTPUTS

Activities
- Establish CHNA subcommittees as needed
- Coalition meetings
- Identify CHNA plan
- Conduct CHNA
- Identify assessment needs and logistics
- Review existing community data & other health assessments
- Primary and Secondary Data Collection and analysis
- Establish priority community health issues
- Develop a community health action plan
- Communicate findings
- Evaluate and monitor progress

Participation
- Community Members
- Community Leaders
- Elected Officials
- CHNA Workgroup Partners and Subcommittee members
- Statisticians
- Health Department
- News Media

OUTCOMES – IMPACT

Short
- Change in knowledge, attitude, motivations
- Increased knowledge and awareness of community health issues
- Changes in attitudes and motivations
- Increased commitment, support, demand to improve community health

Medium
- Influenced policy/program in priority areas
- Influence policy among partners
- Increased number of prevention programs, policies adopted, enforcement
- Changes in behavior of community members to include physical activity, healthy eating, tobacco cessation, and chronic disease management

Long
- Improved community health status regarding chronic disease prevention and control and associated risk factors
- % of Policy, System, Environment strategies and interventions implemented
- Increase public and decision-makers’ understanding of a shared vision, goals and strategies to support and achieve policy, systems, & environmental changes

Assumptions

- Addressing community members’ health behaviors will improve the health of the community.
- Resources are available to support a healthy community.

External Factors

- Local policy, systems, and environments are currently in place which may deter addressing community health issues.
- Social Determinants of Health affect the health of community members.